GLASGOW'S FOOD SYSTEM

Glasgow's food system is complex, interconnected and reaches well beyond Glasgow's boundaries. It involves all the processes needed to feed a population, including growing or producing food, distribution, and getting rid of waste. It is influenced by the economy, society and political factors and it affects our health and our environment.

1 in 3 children in Glasgow live in poverty - that's 38,000 children in the city

11% of people reported experiencing at least one event indicating food insecurity

Over 60% of adults and over 20% of Primary 1 children are overweight or obese

78% report eating fewer than 5 portions of fruit or vegetables a day and 12% report eating none

In Scotland
21%
of tourist spend is on food and drink

There are over 5000
food and beverage industry jobs in Glasgow

Glasgow has 3 market gardens, around 90 community gardens and growing spaces and 32 allotment sites

There are also opportunities for more growing spaces on the city's large amount of vacant and derelict land: 1300 hectares across 925 sites

Public services in Glasgow have an important part to play in buying and selling healthier and more sustainable food and supporting more local businesses

Glasgow City Council has committed to working with partners to achieve carbon neutrality by 2030

Around 30% of the greenhouse gas emissions that drive climate change arise from the food system

The Glasgow City Food Plan can help guide us towards making a food system we are proud of, where everyone is able to eat healthy, tasty, affordable food that supports local business and minimises negative impacts on the environment
